

The Streamery Safety Video Library

Great American Policyholders have access to a vast library of streaming video and training content provided through Streamery. The library is an excellent supplement to our policyholders' overall safety and risk management programs.

Library Overview

Great American's safety video library includes over 800 training programs with over 400 titles available in Spanish covering a wide variety of hazard-specific and industry-specific topics. Topics are categorized in the online library to facilitate browsing by hazard, operation or industry. Content ranges from OSHA compliance and employee safety, to driving and driver issues, and human resources and management topics.

Each training topic contains a video that may be streamed using a built-in, user friendly media player with closed caption capability in both English and Spanish. Many topics come with downloadable and editable course materials in a Zip file that include course leader guides, course completion certificates, sign-in sheets, and post-video training quizzes and answer keys. Videos are best streamed using Google Chrome, Microsoft Edge, Firefox or mobile phone browsers.

Videos may be presented in a classroom setting with a moderator to record attendance and facilitate.
