

The Experience You Need to Manage Claims

Claims are a time when your insurance coverage is put to the test. As you know, public entity claims are often complex with multiple issues coming into play. Because of this, Great American recognizes that these claims need to be handled by specialists with strong experience who are used to navigating this marketplace. Our claims team members average nearly 20 years of experience and bring strong public entity claims experience to your insurance coverage.

Regina DePumpo, Vice President – Claims

Regina joined Great American Public Sector Division in March 2022, with significant claims management and litigation experience in public sector, as well as various other liability lines of business. Prior to Great American, she worked as a Corporate Claims Manager leading various liability teams, including public sector, general liability and excess surplus. She also was the coverage liaison between the liability teams and corporate legal assisting in coverage reviews. Prior to that role, she spent several years in various roles expanding her insurance knowledge as both a coverage attorney and complex claims handler in multiple lines of business. Regina is an attorney who earned her Juris Doctor from Syracuse University in Syracuse, NY. Prior to going to law school, she was a registered nurse in the operating room for several years. She also holds CPCU and AIC designations.

Elizabeth Fuller, Assistant Vice President – Claims
