Work Injury Compensation Insurance protects employers under the Work Injury Compensation Act (WICA), and their legal liability to their employees under Common Law.

Who is required to be insured?
- Employees performing manual work, regardless of wage level
- Employees performing non-manual work, earning less than $1,600 per month

WICA allows employees to make claims for work-related injuries or diseases without having to file a civil suit under the Common Law. It is a low-cost and quick alternative to Common Law for settling compensation claims.

Who is Covered under WICA?
- All employees under contract of service or contract of apprenticeship, regardless of wage level

When is Compensation Payable?
- Employee suffers an injury as a result of an accident that occurred during the course of their employment
- Employee contracts an occupational disease
- Employee contracts a disease due to work-related exposure to biological and/or chemical agents

What Benefits can be claimed under WICA?
- Medical leave wages
- Hospitalisation leave wages
- Lump sum compensation for permanent incapacity or death
