Why you need coverage: claims scenarios

The following demonstrates real-world situations where Great American could protect organizations like yours.

Abuse or Molestation coverage

During a group activity, a counselor noticed that one eight-year-old boy was verbally assaulting another. The counselor took immediate action to separate the children and reported the incident in accordance with the organization's abuse reporting policy. The verbally assaulted child's parents later sued the organization and named the counselor for the mental distress their child experienced. The organization's agent was well versed on Great American's abuse coverage and felt confident in the policy's ability to provide protection for any actual, threatened or alleged act. The agent knew the policy covered both employee-on-client abuse and client-on-client abuse, and addressed sexual, physical and emotional abuse.

 Volunteer Medical Payments coverage

While painting the gym at a youth recreation center, a volunteer fell off a ladder and broke his wrist. Because the organization had medical payments coverage extending to volunteers, the volunteer received payment for his incurred medical bills without going through the difficult process of proving fault with the organization. This saved the organization steep costs in defense expenses.

Accident & Health coverage
A camper made her way to the canoe on the riverbank. Suddenly, she slipped and fell on the mud, hitting her head on the side of the canoe. The injury required a visit to the emergency room resulting in stitches. The organization was glad it had purchased an Accident & Health policy to accompany its Great American General Liability policy. The accident policy made payment for the camper’s medical bills, and did not affect the limits of the organization’s General Liability policy.

Prevent loss before it happens
One of the best services we can provide is working with you to prevent a loss before it happens. Claims cost money. They also take a personal and professional toll that can add up to missed opportunities, lost hours and pain and suffering.

To help prevent a claim, you will work with our Safety Professionals, a team of individuals who average 15 years of experience. They start by working with you to evaluate your property, premises and facilities. Then, they develop plans and educational programs to address issues such as driver safety, bullying and employee safety.

Beyond Great American’s dedicated loss prevention services, we also offer these valued benefits:

- Background Checks – To help you make smart hiring decisions, we offer savings on IntelliCorp services. IntelliCorp’s criminal history database provides critical information, while maintaining privacy.

- Driver Monitoring – You may have employees or volunteers driving on your organization’s behalf. With SafetyFirst, you can monitor your drivers and identify those who are taking risks while driving, before they are involved in a collision.

- Specialized Nonprofit Risk Management – To help you develop safety plans and policies, as well as other risk management solutions, we’ve formed a relationship with the Nonprofit Risk Management Center. With more than 25 years of experience, the center provides counsel on issues such as employment practices, governance, fraud prevention and legal risk.

- eLearning – To help you stay up-to-date on emerging risks, improve safety and reduce losses, we offer interactive training courses geared specifically to your organization.

- Unemployment Tax Alternatives – 501(c)3 nonprofit organizations may opt out of paying into a state’s unemployment pool. You can benefit from our relationship with 501(c) Agencies Trust, who can administer reimbursing, cost-control programs.

- Anonymous Bully Reporting App – Bullying is one of the largest risk issues you may face. To help manage this risk, we work with STOPit, a mobile platform that empowers students to anonymously report, prevent and provide follow-up information about bullying and other inappropriate conduct.

How these services can help your organization
The following scenarios demonstrate real-world cases where our value-added services could help reduce your organization’s risk.

- With STOPit, a youth club was able to curb bullying and other inappropriate behaviors while protecting the anonymity of their members.

- A children’s camp was able to save on the cost of their background checks, and mitigate risk without breaking their budget using IntelliCorp background check services.

Outstanding coverage for youth development organizations, including:

- Boys & Girls Clubs
